Shop Early For Christmas Advice of Local Merchants

STORES FILLED WITH SUITABLE HOLIDAY GIFTS FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY—BIG TREES TO REMEMBER HUNDREDS OF YOUNG AND OLD WITH PRESENTS.

Plans for the two big Christmas trees to be arranged by the St. Cloud merchants are going forward each day, and it is hoped that no boy or girl or older person will fail to receive some present from old Santa on Saturday night before Christmas. One tree is to be located at the hand shell on Tenth street, while the tree for colored folks will be arranged at Twelfth street and New York avenue.

Every store in St. Cloud is putting on a holiday appearance, the new goods arriving daily, and advice is given to shop early while the stocks are complete and avoid an eleventh hour rush that has prevailed in previous years for those shoppers who wait until the last minute to buy for Christmas.

Only twenty-six more days until Christmas.

Make up the list of those you desire to remember now. Check up on what you want with the stocks offered by the local merchant. If there should be some time not found, any dealer can get special orders filled if given the word early enough to provide for the delay in transportation.

There is no need to shop outside of St. Cloud for anything you need or want to give to some friend or relative for Christmas. Visit the St. Cloud stores and make this your headquarters for buying for the holidays, and in fact for all the days.

St. Cloud is Santa Claus' headquarters in Osceola county this year. His final visit to the city will be made on Christmas Eve. On Saturday night, December 22, Old Kris Kringle will meet the kiddies at the Christmas tree in St. Cloud, and his last trip for the year will be on Monday night, December 24, when the big gift awards provided by the St. Cloud merchants will take place.

FOOTBALL GAME HERE WITH MULBERRY 'SAFTERNOON

St. Cloud high school football team will meet the Mulberry high school team at the local athletic field this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to announcement made yesterday.

Being the annual Thanksgiving game and played at home it is expected that a record crowd will witness what is expected to be the best game of the season.

St. Cloud's team is pepped up to win, and with a good crowd of boosters the boys are expected to keep up their good playing. The Mulberry team, however, is known to be a good one and will make the locals earn their victory with hard work.

Mulberry Team Claims "Class B" Football Championship of State

The Panthers of Mulberry high school are making a strong bid for the "class B" high school football championship of Florida. The Panthers have not been defeated by a class B team this season and stack up as one of the three strongest teams in the state outside the "Big Ten."

Pennacola and Leesburg both have unmarred records this season and it appears that they will finish the season without defeat. Although the Panthers from Mulberry have come through a hard "class B" schedule of nine games undefeated, they have a tie game with Fort Meade on their record. Plant high, of Tampa, defeated the local in an early season game.

Mulberry's record in "class B" follows: Frostproof 6, Mulberry 6; Winter Haven 0, Mulberry 25; Summerlin Institute 12, Mulberry 25; Lake Wales 0, Mulberry 22; Sebring 0, Mulberry 12; Avon Park 0, Mulberry 20; Fort Meade 7, Mulberry 7; Punta Gorda 6, Mulberry 1 (forfeited); Lake Alfred 0, Mulberry 40; totals, opponents 28, Mulberry 168.

Mulberry will meet St. Cloud this (Thursday) afternoon.

MONTHLY MEETING OF ST. CLOUD RED CROSS OCCURS DEC. 3RD.

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Cloud Chapter, American Red Cross will be held next Monday, December 3, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Reports will be made of the annual roll call drive and other activities of the chapter.

All members are urged to be on hand at 4:30 p. m., Monday, and especially are the officers and committee members urged to be present at that time.

JOHN CHENOFIELD GETS SERIOUSLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Late Friday afternoon John Chenofield was seriously injured when a truck loaded with wood, which he was driving from the Simmons neighborhood Alligator Lake to St. Cloud overturned after making a turn in the road, causing a severe cut on the head, a broken shoulder bone and other bruises about the body. He was taken to the government hospital at Lake City, Fla., on Saturday by members of the local Legion Post.

Mr. Chenofield was an ex-service man, and suffered gasping while over seas some years ago, and had been in poor health for several months since his return home. Only recently he was able to take on any kind of heavy work. He had been engaged in supplying wood to patrons in the city during the recent cold days, and was making one of his regular runs when the accident occurred. The front wheels became locked just as he had rounded a curve and caused the truck to turn over on the driver.

EARLY MORNING FIRE DAMAGES CHIFTON HOME

Fire, supposed to have started from a defective fuse, at the home of C. L. Chifon, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets on Illinois avenue, at 12:15 a. m. yesterday, practically destroyed the home.

The fire had gained good headway before discovered, due to the late hour it started, but the fire department was on the scene within a few minutes after the alarm and soon put out the blaze.

It is understood there was $1200 insurance on the house and contents. Mr. Chifon had only recently purchased the place, and his wife and children were in the home at the time the fire started.

MANY ST. CLOUDITES VIEW TOTAL ECLIPSE OF MOON TUESDAY

Quite a number of St. Cloud folks left their warm beds between three and five o'clock, Tuesday morning to witness the total eclipse of the moon which was visible throughout the United States at that hour. The night had been clear throughout and the moon was "plum full," so the phenomenon was visible and very clear throughout this section.

Total eclipse was recorded as beginning at 5:33 a. m., and lasting until 4:29 a. m., and the moon was said to be entirely out of eclipse at 5:39 a. m., but to the watchers in St. Cloud the total eclipse began earlier by about thirty minutes, and the moon was emerging from total obscurity at about 3:30 a. m. instead of 4:29, and was therefore entirely over before 5:00 a. m.

APPRECIATES GENEROSITY OF ST. CLOUD FOLKS

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Henderson, whose residence was burned last week on Massachusetts avenue, near Twelfth street, desire to express their appreciation to the many St. Cloud folks who so generously offered assistance after their loss by fire.

Mr. Henderson advises the Tribune that the fire evidently started from a fuse which ran through the second floor of the building and not from falling down of the stove pipe as was reported last week. Mrs. Henderson states that the ceiling was in place when the fire was discovered and she gave the alarm immediately.

One cool morning last week the Ford truck used by L. M. Parker at his nursery and truck farm took a notion to "back" when the starter was pressed, necessitating a little job of "cranking." Preceding to demonstrate to the "cranky" Ford that she must start, Mr. Parker gave the starting crank a good twist, only to receive a severe kick on the right wrist, from which "kick" he has not yet fully recovered. He is working "one-handed," however and keeping the farm going.

REV. FRANK STODDARD TO SUCCEED REV. B. ATCHISON

At the close of the Prayer meeting last week Rev. Bert Atchison, pastor of the Baptist church, surprised and almost shocked his congregation by presenting his resignation to the church to take effect the last week in December. The church is in a perfectly harmonious condition and the resignation came as a thunderbolt out of the clear sky, and it left the members of the church almost speechless for the time being.

Rev. Atchison was called to this field in March, 1921 making eight years, with the exception of two months, that he has labored here in St. Cloud as pastor of the local church. Eight years ago there was no parsonage and only a small one-room building for a church. By the cooperation of pastor and people the church has seen a healthy and continuous growth during the past eight years.

About 300 members have been received into the fellowship of the church, a new modern seven room parsonage has been built for the pastor, the one room building for the church has been remodeled and greatly enlarged to take care of the growing congregation with twelve separate Sunday school rooms and a good basement for social gatherings, a combination pipe-organ and piano has been installed also a modern furnace that will heat the entire building during the cold weather.

During the eight years the pastor has laid great emphasis upon systematic Bible study and for a time found it necessary to rent the G. A. R. Hall for this class alone while the new church was being built. The membership in the Whosoever-Will class often run over two hundred during the winter months. Another class has been carried on in connection with the Wednesday Prayer meeting so that the congregation has been well drilled in the fundamental doctrines of the Bible.

During the eight years the pastor has been called upon to conduct 88 funerals and officiate at 27 weddings. During the last two months about thirty new members have been added to the membership of the church, three were received last Sunday morning and at the close of the evening service a young married couple were led by the pastor down into the baptismal waters together, and baptized on confession of their faith in their Saviour.

At a meeting of the Advisory Board of the church Rev. Frank Stoddard, now pastor of the Independent Baptist church at Newark, N. J., as one that he could heartily recommend as his successor in the work and last Sunday morning the church voted to extend to Rev. Stoddard a unanimous call which has been accepted and the pastor is expected here on the field within a few weeks.

Rev. Stoddard is not a stranger to the congregation or to the people of St. Cloud as he supplied the pulpit a number of times about eight years ago and before leaving was married to the organist of the church who before her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Ward. Rev. and Mrs. Stoddard have many friends in St. Cloud who will be glad to welcome them as they return to make their home in Florida once more. Rev. Atchison and family will probably move to their new field in West Palm Beach sometime between Christmas and New Year.

Joline Sent Tampa Merchants Hundred and Seventy Turkeys

Friday evening H. H. Joline sent Tampa merchants a truck load of Thanksgiving turkeys, raised at the Joline dairy farm during this summer, there being 170 fowls in the lot, which weighed out when unloaded at Tampa 2,047 pounds. J. D. Harris made the trip with the truck, and stated that the demand was greater than the supply for turkeys at Tampa this year. A price of 40 cents per pound on foot was received for the lot.

In addition to the lot sent to Tampa, Mr. Joline has been making deliveries to local merchants, to Orlando dealers and to Melbourne buyers in small lots, in all more than three hundred turkeys for the season, and he has another batch of youngsters that will be fattened for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Joline gives full credit to his wife for the success obtained in raising turkeys at the dairy farm, a batch coming off every week but one during the year. Starting with a few hens and gobblers last winter, the spring

W. G. KING

Will be guest of honor at Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday. He came to St. Cloud May 9, 1909.

ST. CLOUD GROWERS ASSOCIATION NOTES

The first car load of fertilizer was received last week and immediately distributed among the members ordering. Orders are being taken for a second car to be ordered next week. The association keeps on hand a small amount of 5-7-5 and 5-5-5 truck for immediate use of the members.

At last Monday night's meeting it was decided to plant potatoes about January first, to be marketed about April 1st, ten days or two weeks ahead of the Hastings crop. The fertilizer should be applied ten days to two weeks before the planting. A committee among the members present showed that they would plant about twenty acres, requiring about a half car of seed potatoes. It appeared that many others intend to plant potatoes at this time and the estimate was made that there would be at least forty acres planted, requiring about a car of seed, which is to be ordered the latter part of next week. The seed to be used is Spaulding Rose No. 4, certified. The forty acres, with an average crop, should mean over ten cars of potatoes going north out of St. Cloud about April 1st.

The dates fixed for the St. Cloud Growers Association fair and exhibition are Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th, and it is to be held in the city park.

The general executive fair committee is composed of M. A. Hood, F. W. Lincoln and H. C. Hartley. The chairman of the principal committees, who are to choose their own committee memberships, are as follows:

Vegetable exhibit—C. B. Lathrop; Flowers, bulbs, etc.—H. L. Hershey; Ladies' fancy work, jellies, preserves, etc.—Mrs. Mary George; Poultry and live stock—C. W. Lincoln; School exhibit—A. J. Geiger; Commodities—J. C. Gault.

In addition to the exhibits there will be all manner of amusements, music, entertainments, games, athletics, and other contests, etc.

The association has on hand for free distribution a number of booklets on the various market crops of Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. John Link, of Riverside Drive, Buffalo, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. B. J. Palmer on Delaware avenue.

Chamber of Commerce To Banquet Pioneer Citizens of Saint Cloud

At the weekly business session and luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday noon it was decided to give weekly banquets each Tuesday evening, beginning December 4, in honor of some pioneer citizen or winter visitor.

Announcement is made that the banquet to held next Tuesday will have as honor guest Mr. G. King, whom it is said was the first white man to take up his permanent residence in the present city of St. Cloud, and who has lived here continuously since that date, over nineteen years. Mr. King is well known to all the old-timers and probably knows personally more of the regular winter guests of the city than any other man.

Following the banquet to Mr. King the committee will name other pioneers for the future banquets during the remainder of the season. Tickets may be had from the committee for the banquet next Tuesday, F. H. Seymour is chairman of the committee making all the arrangements for the occasion. The committee secured the dining room of the St. Cloud hotel for these banquets in order that all who wish to attend can find room at the tables.

The first of these "pioneer" banquets will probably be largely attended as many interesting stories of the early days of the city will be related by the speakers that will be on the program.

The honor guest for next Tuesday could write a most interesting book on the history of St. Cloud, and in fact he has promised to do so some day. Probably the banquet next week will result in the publication of such a volume in the near future.

MOORE WANTS TO BE SPEAKER

T. G. Moore, representative-elect from Osceola county, is a candidate for speaker of the house of representatives in the 1929 session of the legislature. Mr. Moore, after conferring with other members of the legislature, announced his candidacy to the recent meeting of legislators in Brighton. It was well received and he was given assurance of support. Mr. Moore is the only candidate for the position from south Florida. The nearest other candidate is Representative Kennedy, mayor of Eustis, who was re-elected to the house in the recent election. There are several other candidates for speaker.—Kisselmeier Valley Gazette.

HIBBARD SAYS UNREST EXISTS AMONG ALL PEOPLES IN CHINA

Taiwan, Shanghai, China, October 15, 1926.

Dear Friends in the Homeland:
"You must try to avoid being molested. There is no protection for you." These were the words of my old friend, Dr. Wang, a returned student from the U. S. A., as he bade me good bye in Shanghai. I was preparing to leave my family there and go back to our old station alone for word had reached us in Japan that Chinese had occupied our houses under a threat that if they were not allowed to do so they would burn them. Further word had come to us at Shanghai that there was much anti-imperialistic feeling among the soldiers at Tientsin which was manifesting itself in parades and in an attempt to stir up the people by the constant shouting of such slogans as, "Down with the unequal treaties," "Down with foreign imperialism," "Down with the Christian schools," "Down with Japan."

So it was with some nervousness that I alighted from the train at Tientsin two days later. I rather expected that the appearance of a foreigner on the streets might raise an outcry. But the soldiers paid no more attention to me than it had been a daily sight. There was a new flag, new uniforms, new sights such as a few autos on the streets, but Tientsin was the same old city with the same old narrow streets and the same old people. I found our compound in a better state than I had expected. Our houses had been and still were occupied by soldiers and officials. I found many windows and doors quite well filled with bullet holes made during the fighting here last spring. The house I was to live in where Mrs. Hibbard was shot must have fifteen or sixteen holes in it. The houses were quite dirty but there had not been much looting.

Under the orders of the new governor our houses have all been evacuated and we are now in the midst of cleaning and whitewashing. The soldiers have left behind several hundreds of unwelcome guests with their families and property but we are hoping that between now and the end of the year they will be gone.

There is no doubt but that our Chinese Christians are glad to have us back. They have continued to stand fast during war, famine, banditry and persecution. Many had narrow escapes during the fighting. I hear good reports of the conduct of our pastors. When I hear from their lips some of the difficulties they have to meet I sincerely feel that I could not endure what they have endured. Most of them are of heroic mold. There has been a strong anti-Christian feeling among some of the soldiers here. They entered one village about ten miles from here and demanded of the pastor that the church sign should be taken down. "This foreign religion is no good," they said. "You are really running dogs of the foreign imperialists." The pastor replied, "I am not preaching for any foreigner nor am I their servant. I am a preacher of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Even though you shoot me I will not betray this Gospel." The sign was not taken down.

On the first day of our arrival a delegation of some sixty villagers came to our compound with an official parchment which stated that all their resources having failed they were compelled to wander and beg for a living. We have had one or two such delegations every day. There will be famine conditions again in places this winter. In addition to soldiers, bandits, drought and floods this past summer has brought clouds of grasshoppers that have stripped the land clean in places. Just now the land is in sore need of assistance. If rain does not fall soon the fall wheat will not grow and that will mean more empty stomachs next spring and summer.

The new governor of the province gave us a foreboding dinner a few days ago. After the dinner we were invited to stand in the reviewing stand with him and watch the Nationalist soldiers pass by in review. While the band played several thousand marched by in perfect order. At intervals the commanding officer would shout, "Whom will you fight?" and the soldiers would shout in reply, "We will fight anybody who oppresses our people." Nationalism fills the air. Patriotism is the highest good. Many in the new order are frankly agnostic and materialistic. In talking with a student returned from America he said, "It is our duty to organize the people and teach them science. When in America my friends there taught me to be an atheist. There are many similar to him who are opposed to all religions. In his speech to us at the dinner the governor asked us to tell our foreign friends that China is not anti-foreign but that she does want equal treatment among the nations."

The work ahead of us is both promising and difficult. That we may stand firm and build wisely, that we may "endure as seeing Him who is invisible" is our hope and prayer.

Sincerely,
E. R. HIBBARD.

MAKE TRIP DOWN EAST COAST RETURNING BY TAMPAI TRAIL

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Gessford and Mr. Gessford's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Johnson, of Monticello, Ill., motored down the East Coast Saturday morning, visiting the Palm Beaches, Hollywood, Miami, Coral Gables and other points in that section of the state. They returned home by way of the Tampa Trail through Ft. Myers, Punta Gorda and Ft. Meade, stopping for the night at Ft. Meade Sunday. Monday they visited Avon Park, Lake Wales and the Bok estate viewing the bell tower where the curtilage will be opened for general use next Sunday. They reached home Monday at noon and the Johnsons left Tuesday for a trip through Orlando, Daytona, St. Augustine and Jacksonville on their way back home to Illinois. They had arrived for a visit to the Gessfords on Thursday evening of last week.

VETERANS ASSOCIATION

The regular Saturday afternoon meeting of the Veterans' Association was called to order by President James Campbell. Three verses of "America" were sung and a prayer was offered by acting Chaplain Cooley. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

President Campbell announced that Chaplain Kennedy was much improved in health and thought he would be able to leave his bed in a few days.

Comrade Perkins told of the many signs that he and others had secured to a petition to congress to establish a veterans' hospital in St. Cloud.

The Florida song, the St. Cloud song and collection came in their regular order. The business part of the meeting being finished the social hour was conducted by the Daughters of Veterans, with Mrs. Clara Reynolds as chairman.

Comrade and Mrs. Raymond rendered several selections and Comrade Lathrop read some interesting clippings. Reading by Mrs. Boggs, "Somebody's Mother"; reading by Mr. Dyke, "Origin of Roast Pig"; reading by Miss Nina Holcomb, "The Orphan"; music by Comrade and Mrs. Raymond; Mr. Babcock told of his travels and gave a reading; reading by Mrs. Ogilvie, "Never Trouble Trouble"; reading by Mrs. Berta Maxwell, "Our Polka"; and she responded in an encore; reading by Mrs. Clara Reynolds, "The Grand Army Boys." This closed the program.

The Daughters gave the flag salute with Mrs. Boggs, Mrs. Whitford, Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Slater as color bearers. The meeting was closed by singing the national anthem.

The next social hour will be in charge of the G. A. R. with Comrade Z. B. B. as chairman. There were seventy-four present. Each week we have more friends from the north in the audience whom we are glad to welcome.

Josephine Perkins, Sec'y.

DEATHS AND BURIALS

MRS. W. S. ALYEA
Word was received on Saturday last that Mrs. W. S. Alvey passed away in Crystal River, Florida, on November 20th.

Mrs. Alvey, better known in St. Cloud as Mrs. Lydia Mosher, was one of the pioneers of our city. She was born in New Brunswick and was for several years a resident of Boston, Mass. She came to St. Cloud in 1909, and was joint manager with Mrs. Reed of the first hotel St. Cloud and was an occupant of that building when it burned in December, 1909.

Realizing the necessities of our then growing young population she erected a large hall for the convenience of our citizens to whom she furnished meals. She remained in St. Cloud and kept a rooming house during the year after the fire when she became manager of the new hotel which she subsequently purchased. During her period of occupancy of the hotel that building was a popular resort and by her charming personality she made many friends amongst our tourists and residents. She subsequently married Mr. W. S. Alvey and moved to Crystal River where she died. Her many friends in this city extend their sincere sympathy to the bereaved husband.

MRS. SOPHRONIA TOMLINSON

PASSED AWAY FRIDAY, NOV. 23
Mrs. Sophronia Tomlinson, aged 80, passed away on Friday of last week after a lingering illness. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Bert Ashburn, of the Baptist church, at the Eiselstein Bros. funeral parlors on Saturday, November 24. The body was sent to Richmond, Va., for interment.

Is It Proper?

Dear Miss Flo:
Is it proper for a young girl to telephone a young man when he asks her to, to make a date? Is it proper to telephone a young man when a girl feels like it instead of waiting until he calls you?
R. R.

Dear R. R., this question has often been asked by girls, and it is hard to make a hard-and-fast rule about it. A great many girls would not think of calling up a man, feeling that they might disturb him or make him feel obliged to see them whether he wanted to or not.

It is best to wait to be called. But one need not be too observant of this at all times. If you are making a party, and must get in touch with a boy at once, to invite him, this rule may be cast aside—phone him. If a boy asks you to phone him at a certain time, as it may be easier to get him by phone than to get you, it seems all right to me to phone him.

But calling a man whenever you "feel like it" is not wise—it is almost improper, and may do consider it improper.

There is always danger that the boy may think less of you for doing what he thinks "going after him" and get a few conceited ideas about his own importance, if you call him. You may call him just to be friendly and talk to him—he may think you are calling him because you are head over heels in love with him and can't wait until he calls.

Should She Take Him Back?

Dear Miss Flo:
I used to go out frequently with a young man about two years my senior. Suddenly he stopped calling on me, and for about eight months I did not see him. Now he is calling on me again. He says he was interested in another girl, but no longer is, and wants me to be his sweetheart again. Shall I welcome him back although he hurt me very much by keeping away and going with another girl?
EIGHTEEN.

Yes, dear Eighteen, I think you should. The fact that he has come back to you shows that he must care for you very much, else instead of coming back to you he might have skipped on to some other girl after breaking with the girl he has been seeing for the past half year or so.

It is quite natural for him to have been far away from you for a time, then finding that he was mistaken and preferred you. Of course, this was not very wise of him in a way, but I think it can be forgiven—unless you sense that he is less fond of you than formerly. In which case he may simply be calling on you for want of any company.

Ascertains just how he feels about the girl he has been seeing—whether he gave her up or whether she sent him away. Do this carefully, without asking questions but by showing great interest in him and encouraging him to confide in you. If he seems still to care for her, it will be a hard struggle to make him forget her.

Making A Choice

Dear Miss Flo:
I have a question in mind that has probably baffled other girls before me. I have been proposed to by two boys, one of whom is very good looking and whom I like very much. He is conceited and fickle.

The other is a serious minded fellow who is quite the opposite of the lively fellow, who is always "the life of the party."

The question is—Will the fickle fellow settle down after he is married?
L. M.

Dear L. M., Certainly this question has puzzled many others—and it is a hard question to answer. In a general way, it may be said that you ought to choose the more serious man.

He is more likely to be a good husband.
But—and this is the point—if you do not love him, do not marry him. And if you do love the "conceited and fickle" man, pick him for your own sake. It is not pleasant to be married to a man whom you do not love.
As to whether the fickle man will settle down after he is married—that depends on the extent of his love for you.

Don't Be Angry!

Dear Miss Flo:
I have been going out steady with a young man about two years my senior. One night he broke an appointment with me, saying that he could not help it—he had something else he just had to do. That night I went riding with my family, and I saw him walking with another girl that I do not know. I do not know whether to make any other appointments with him. Can you give me advice?
M. M.

Dear L. E., my best advice is that you keep yourself from getting angry, at least until you talk the matter over with your friend—it would be best, however, not even to mention it. For how can you tell simply by seeing him him walking with another girl what his relations to that girl are, or why he had to see her that particular night. She might have been a relative, an old acquaintance just back to town, or some girl he had made an appointment with previous to making one with you, that he had thought he would not see. You have no way of telling—why jump to conclusions?

"VERY LATESTS"

By Cecile

Orange tuffets, tails and sequins combine to fashion this new poplin dress from work by Ned Kelly in "Up-to-Date" at Saks Fifth Avenue—and a very charming little costume is it—on the stage or off.

The normal waistline shows itself here in one of its best moods, while the poplin adds a sophisticated note to the bouffant skirt which, without it, might have to remain in the wardrobe of very young girls.

Sequins are enjoying a surprising popularity, by the way. Often they are used to outline futuristic patterns on tulle and chiffon frocks again as bold trimming to edge smart little pockets on a satin overdress. And the evening jacket of net embroidered in sequins turns rainy a last year's frock into something new!

Prints Again for Spring

As an "inbetween" frock this season you may indulge in a printed frock secure in the knowledge that it will be good far into the spring. Advance fabric news tell us there is every indication that prints will be shown and on sale early in the year.

Now—Fur Sets

Paris sends us the smartest little fur sets as her very latest notion. Close-fitting, cap-hat, scarf and muff in broadtail, either black, beige or gray, appear in several chic designs; lap neck and flat silky curtain are also shown and wear in the brownish "old-skinn" tones is a particular favorite.

If you have an bedroom seal coat that is too worn or out of date to use as a wrap—why not have the furrier transform it into one of these fashionable sets?

A GOOD INVESTMENT

WILLIAMTIC, CL. Nov. 26.—A three-dollar investment twenty years ago will now net John W. Kilpatrick a small fortune. Twenty years ago he was selling fire extinguishers. In making a sale in Brooklyn, CL. he accepted a violin in exchange for an extinguisher which was worth about $3. Experts now advise Kilpatrick his violin is a Stradivarius dated 1710.

TO WASH OR NOT TO WASH

If I were to be asked what constitutes a beautiful skin, I should answer instantly—a healthy one. Health is a primary law of Beauty, and no skin can be healthy unless it is hygienically clean. So the first and universally important rule is—Regular and Thorough Cleansing.

It simply isn't possible to gauge the number of letters that pour in from time to time, asking me for an expert opinion on the subject of washing the face. Women seem to be awayed so easily from the good, sane, common-sense ways by sensational advertising or incorrect and unexpert opinions!

To settle all question of washing once and for all, let me say that in the thirty-odd years during which I have acted as confidant and adviser to some of the most beautiful women in the world, I have not come across one dozen instances where the skin was so fragile it would be injured by correct washing. Mind you—I say correct washing.

The use of a harsh or alkaline soap will ruin any skin, eventually. It is only a question of time as to when the protesting tissues will rebel. Complexion Soap, however, is made of the finest oils, and there is one kind in particular which is based on that ancient beautifier, the blessed whiteness of fresh eggs. Such soaps, specially created and carefully perfected, will prove of the greatest value to even the finest skin.

In dealing with an excessively oily skin or one marred by blackheads, whiteheads and pimples, the use of a scientifically compounded face wash, either a good stimulating blackhead and open pore paste, which incidentally is excellent for refining large pores, or special beauty grains which, through their content and consistency, get right down into the pores, stimulating and cleansing them.

By all means I advise you to wash—but use discretion in your selection of a washing agent. And next week I'll tell you about the cold cream method of cleansing.

Helen Rubinstein.

The new Ford has a very simple and effective lubrication system

THE lubrication system for the engine of the new Ford is as simple in principle as water running down-hill.

A gear pump in the bottom of the oil pan raises the oil to the valve chamber reservoir. From here it flows on to the main crankshaft bearings and the front camshaft bearing. Overflow oil drops into the oil pan tray and runs into troughs through which the connecting rods pass.

As the ends of these rods strike the oil they scoop up a supply for the connecting rod bearing. At the same time they set up a fine spray that lubricates the pistons and other moving parts.

From the tray the oil runs into the bottom of the pan, and is again drawn up through a fine mesh screen and pumped to the valve chamber.

This system is so effective that the five-quart contents of the oil pan pass through the pump twice in every mile when you are traveling at only 30 miles an hour. Yet there is only one movable part—the oil pump.

As a matter of fact, the lubrication system for the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no service attention.

There is just one thing for you to do, but it is a very important thing . . . watch the oil! Change the oil every 500 miles and be sure the indicator rod never registers below low (L).

If the oil level is allowed to fall below low, the supply becomes insufficient to oil all parts as they should be oiled.

To insure best performance it is also advisable to have the chassis of your car lubricated every 500 miles. This has been made easy in the new Ford through the use of the high pressure grease gun system.

Proper oiling and greasing mean so much to the life of your car that they should not be neglected or carelessly done.

See your Ford dealer regularly. He is especially well fitted to lubricate the new Ford and he will do a good, thorough job at a fair price.

WITH THE NIMRODS

Congressman Joe Sears, of Kissimmee, and Sheriff Farmer were among the hunters seen in the woods on a fork of Wolf Creek on the opening day of the season last week. Reports that four deer and eight turkeys had been killed in that particular section before Friday night cannot be believed when it is learned who "hunted" there during the four days.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Pledger were numbered among the campers at the rock pit on Wolf Creek from Tuesday to Friday last week. We didn't learn what either of these parties brought home, but they must have shared in the early picking by being there first.

Doctor Millard and "Curlew" of the fire department, were among the successful bird hunters the past week end. The state that they penetrated a fastness near a lake south of town that they don't believe anybody else knows how to reach by auto, so they think the game they left down there will be there when they go back again. They got their legal bag for the day of quail. While in their section they report hearing a bunch of duck hunters to the near neighborhood, and from the number of shot heard state that either all the ducks were killed or that there were some amateur nimrods in that vicinity.

G. G. Wheat reports bagging a big turkey during the past week. He made the last trip to the south of St. Cloud.

Doc Coleman says he got three turkeys the past week and he declares he did not get any home grown or tame ones at that. We haven't seen the three turkeys, but we take Doc's word for it that they were wild this time.

Ira Keen, county game warden, told the Tribune reporter Saturday that up to Friday night his department had rounded up nine game law violators since the opening on the 20th. That was more than two a day. Some fellow forgot that it is unlawful to take either for the next five years and got caught. A few others were too hasty in killing just before the legal opening—and got caught. Still others ventured in the woods and killed without the necessary license—and got caught. If this good work keeps up through the season we may hope to see the county game more plentiful. The game wardens are "hoping about" all over the county and licensed hunters can assist materially by reporting law infractions to that department that come under their observation while in the woods.

ROMANCE AND THRILLS IN GREAT PICTURE "LILAC TIME"

TENDER LOVE STORY. BRILLIANT ACTING BY COLLEEN MOORE AND AIRPLANE FIGHT THRILLS AROUSE FAN ENTHUSIASM.

If love levels all ranks, it also overthrows even events of world import, so far as lovers are concerned. And as most of the world is composed of lovers and all the world loves them, it is not surprising that "Lilac Time," First National's big new special which will be at the Arcade, Kissimmee, Monday and Tuesday, with Colleen Moore as the star, enthralled by reason of the love story it tells to even a greater extent than because of the World War background.

First National has supplied a picture perfectly directed by George Fitzmaurice, wherein a little French girl and an English aviator are the principals. Colleen Moore is the girl, Jeannine, and Gary Cooper is the young aviator. Both contribute brilliant performances.

The audience responds to the magnificent scenes of the air battles; the movements of the troops from a provincial village before the enemy advance—all of which were marvellously presented. But it weeps with Colleen Moore, laughs with her, longs, as did she, for peace, that love might not be thwarted in its purpose.

The work of the star is of that quality which defies the critic's analysis. She simply is the character she portrays. It is more than acting, it is consummate art. Miss Moore has added to her list of screen portrayals one that can be definitely assigned to a place at the very apex.

"Lilac Time" was produced by John McCormick, to whom must go credit for selecting a splendid supporting cast. Gary Cooper, who flashed across the screen as a new luminary in "Benn Sabor" and "The Legion of the Condemned" excels all previous efforts in his role. Burr McIntosh deserves credit as do George Cooper, Jack Stone and every other member of the cast.

It is inevitable that for many years to come, the World War will throw its shadow over pictures, plays and books. But so long as it is tinged with an exquisite romance, such as that in "Lilac Time," none will regret reference to that hectic period in the history of the world.

OSCEOLA CO. RABBIT BREEDERS EXHIBIT AT ORLANDO

Interest in the coming poultry and rabbit show to be held at Orlando, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, December 12, 13 and 14, is now at fever heat. The committees in charge are working overtime to make this first show under the combined auspices of the Orange County Poultry Association and the Central Florida Rabbit Association an outstanding success and expect within another week to bring the interest to the boiling point, so to speak.

The success of the affair will be in its completeness in having specimens fully representative of the district including the counties of Orange, Brevard, Seminole, Volusia, Lake, Polk and Osceola. This article appearing in the press of these counties is a special invitation from the committees to all readers and asks their co-operation as the show will do a great deal to influence the coming markets for poultry and rabbits; be an inducement toward the successful breeding of more and better stock and make it more profitable to those who are spending time and energy in these lines of Florida industry.

The committees like to talk of it as a "pre-p" show because they are most interested in the "amateurs" rather than the "professionals" of poultry or rabbits or pet stock; the one who may be a bit haphazard in placing specimens in the big Central Florida Exposition which comes later. As the December show is primarily for these new fanciers it gives them an unusual opportunity to learn the ways of showmen in livestock and poultry lines. The committees are desirous of every possible entry, even from those who have but a few birds or animals and no experience. And such will be greatly benefited by showing some of their stock. The entry list is so arranged that prices will be nominal and based on the actual entries. That is, the regular price money will be made up from the total amount of the entry fees and all these fees will be used for prizes to those deserving in the various classes.

The County Boys' and Girls' Clubs of each county are solicited to make this their show as great prominence is to be given their efforts. Mr. K. C. Moore, Orange county agricultural agent, is in direct charge of this part of the exhibition and the work of the boys and girls clubs is expected to surprise all who attend. Mr. Moore reports very great interest among the young people and is doing all possible to create an outstanding feature. When you hear Mr. Moore over the radio once a week at noon-time during the next few weeks you will obtain the latest news of the show and its progress.

Here is a show especially devoted to the "home folks" and a large attendance is desired because the breeders know that comparatively few realize what advances and strides are being made right here in Central Florida in the small livestock industries. The December show is going to awaken of interest to every citizen who looks forward to prosperity in this district. It is not a money-making enterprise and those in charge must rely on a large gate receipt to even cover expenses incurred as the main aim is to provide a good show which will be representative of what we are accomplishing right here at home.

The show is to be held, through the kindly co-operation of Karl Lehmann and the Orange County Fair Association, in the large building at the Orlando fair grounds where standard cages are in readiness for more than 2000 specimens. All care is to be given entries. Light and ventilation, management and all details for the protection of the stock will be of the best and the committees have arranged to feed and give proper care to all without additional expense to exhibitors.

As the show building is a very large one there is some highly desirable space available for commercial displays and those desirous of using such space will be given all necessary information by the management. There will be an opportunity for novices or others in the territory to offer special prizes for those who exhibit from their city or town and it is hoped that much extra enthusiasm will be created by such prizes which will be given due publicity.

Professor Merhoff, extension poultryman at the University of Florida, Gainesville, is to be the judge of the poultry exhibited by the Boys' and Girls' Clubs and has offered his services in adding the color of each county to make the most creditable show possible. A competition among the county clubs offers an opportunity for interested citizens to establish a lasting interest among the boys and girls.

NOW THE CROW GETS CREDIT AS A BENEFACTOR

The crow, that noisy grain thief, has always been regarded as a nuisance. Farmers have always tried to exterminate this bird as far as possible, but now Dr. Sachtleben of Germany is taking up the cudgels in behalf of the crow as well as his allies, the rook and the raven.

They may help themselves to grain, says Dr. Sachtleben, but they always make up for this by eating troublesome insects for dessert! Experiments were carried on in which the stomachs of crows of various species were examined. They were found to contain 18.5 per cent stones, 37.6 per cent vegetable matter, and 23.9 per cent animal matter. The grain contents of the stomach included wheat, rye, oats, barley, potatoes, maize, buckwheat, peas and various seeds. In 344 specimens of the 3,250 examined, the remains of mice were found, these constituting 24.4 per cent of the animal food devoured by the birds while insects formed 34.5 per cent of the animal food.

Rooks were found to destroy an enormous number of insects. These facts were made by Professor Roerig of the zoological laboratory of the biological institute of Germany, who summed up his report as follows:

"Every crow is a source of more gain than loss to the agricultural interests of the region where it is found."

The first company formed to promote dog-racing in Germany went bankrupt within a month.

Br'er Rabbit was scared under a hickory tree sunning himself one afternoon when something dropped near him "CHIRP-LUNK!"

"That's a hickory nut," he said to himself. "I wish Mrs. Squirrel were here."

"BLIMP!" Another hickory nut dropped near Br'er Rabbit and he looked up to see where it came from and he saw Mister Jay Bird sitting on a limb.

"Hey, you, I wish you would throw some of those nuts down when Mrs. Squirrel comes this way. She knows where there are some carrots I need and you will help me a lot by throwing down some nuts—wait, here she comes."

Sure enough, Mrs. Squirrel was coming down the path, her tail waving in the breeze.

"Good morning, my dear, dear Mrs. Squirrel. I am so delighted to see you," said Br'er Rabbit, bowing very low.

"Glad to see you, too," said Mrs. Squirrel.

Just at that moment a hickory nut landed on Br'er Rabbit's head and he jumped up with an "OUCH!"

"Isn't that just lovely?" said Mrs. Squirrel. "I will not have to climb the tree now, but can stay here and talk to you."

"I asked Mister Jay Bird to throw down some nuts for you, but I didn't tell him to bump me on the head," whined Br'er Rabbit.

"Well, you see, what is one rabbit's misfortune is a blessing to me—it of course happens that way," replied the lady with the bushy tail.

FOURTH INSTALLMENT

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Rick Duane, quick on the draw, kills Cal Bain to self-defense and finds himself an outlaw. Flying from pursuit, he meets Luke Stevens, another outlaw, and the two become pals. Luke narrowly escapes capture and Duane is shocked to find his brother outlawed.

Duane buries Stevens. Then he goes on to Bland's camp, where he gets into a fight with a man called Bummer and wounds the latter. He makes a friend of an outlaw called Knatch, who tells him of Mrs. Bland and the girl Jennie.

Duane meets Jennie, and promises to try his utmost to get her away from Bland's camp. To avert suspicion, it is planned that he pretend to care for Mrs. Bland. Knatch introduces him to the latter and he engages in conversation with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Evidently the outlaw's wife liked Knatch, for her keen glance rested with amusement upon him.

"As for Jen, I'll tell you her story some day," went on the woman. "It's a common enough story along this river. Knatch here is a tender-hearted old fool, and Jen has taken him in."

When Knatch had shuffled into the home Mrs. Bland turned to Duane with curiosity and interest in her gaze.

"I'll tell you, Duane," she said earnestly. "I'm sure glad if you mean to hide a while. I'm a miserable woman, Duane. I'm an outlaw's wife and I hate him and the life I have to lead. I come of a good family in Brownsville."

"I never knew Bland was an outlaw till long after he married me. We were separated at times, and I imagined he was away on business. But the truth came out. Bland shot my own cousin, who told me. My family sent me off, and I had to flee with Bland."

"I was only eighteen, then. I've lived here since. I never see a decent woman or man. I never hear anything about my old home or folks or friends. I'm buried here—buried alive with a lot of thieves and murderers. Can you blame me for being glad to see a young fellow—a gentleman—like the boys I used to go with?"

"I tell you it makes me feel full—I want to cry. I'm sick for somebody to talk to. I have no children, thank God. If I had I'd not stay here. I'm sick of this hole. I'm lonely."

There appeared to be no doubt about the truth of all this. Genuine emotion checked—then halted the hurried speech. She broke down and cried. It seemed strange to Duane that an outlaw's wife—and a woman who fitted her consort and the wild nature of their surroundings—should have weakness enough to weep.

"Would Bland object if I called on you occasionally?" inquired Duane.

"No, he wouldn't. He likes me to have friends. Ask him yourself when he comes back. The trouble has been that two or three of his men fell in love with me, and when half drunk got to fighting. You're not going to do that."

"I'm not going to get half drunk, that's certain," replied Duane.

Without any solicitation or encouragement from Duane, the Bland woman fell passionately in love with him. His conscience was never troubled about the beginning of that affair. She lured him herself. It took no great perspicacity on his part to see that.

He was playing a game of love. (Playing with life and death?) Sometimes he trembled, not that he feared Bland or Alloway, or any man, but at the depths of life he had come to see into. He was carried out of his old mood.

Not since this daring night had he stirred him had he been haunted by fantasies of Bain beside his bed. Rather had he been haunted by Jennie's sad face—her starling smile—her eyes.

He never was able to speak a word to her. What little communication he had with her was through Knatch who carried short messages. But he caught glimpses of her every time he went to the Bland house. She contrived somehow to pass door or window, to give him a look when chance afforded.

And Duane discovered with surprise that these moments were more thrilling to him than any with Mrs. Bland. Often Duane knew Jennie was sitting just inside the window, and then he felt inspired in his talk and it was all right for her. So at least she came to know him while as yet she was almost a stranger.

Jennie had been instructed by Knatch to listen, to understand that this was Duane's only chance to help keep her mind from constant worry, to gather the import of every word which had a double meaning.

Knatch said that the girl had begun to rather under the strain, to bawl up with intense hope, which had flamed with her. But all the difference Duane could see was a paler face and darker, more wonderful eyes. The eyes seemed to be entreating him to hurry, that time was flying that soon it might be too late.

Then there was another evening in Duane's life—a strange fire wholly inexplicable to Duane. It was only a flash gone in an instant. But he remembered it because he had never seen it in any other woman's eyes.

Inside Duane's body there was a strife; his heart pounded, his blood raced, his breast bore a heavy pang. Something hot had dug into his vitals and the pain remained. In the depths of his mind his soul, there was chaos.

He felt something dying in him. He suffered. Hope seemed far away. Despair had slamed upon him and was driving him and reckless mood when he thought of Jennie.

He had forgotten her. He had forgotten that he had promised to save her. He had forgotten that he meant to snuff out as many lives as might stand between her and freedom.

The very remembrance cheered off his morbid introspection. She made a difference. How strange for him to realize that! He felt grateful to her. He had been forced into outlawry; she had been stolen from her people and carried into captivity.

They had met in the river fastness, he to lust her into her despairing life, she to be the means, perhaps, of saving him from sinking to the level of her captives. He became conscious of a strong beating desire to see her talk with her.

These thoughts had run through his mind while on his way to Mrs. Bland's house. He had let Knatch go on ahead because he wanted more time to compose himself.

Darkness had almost set in when he reached his destination. There was no light in the house. Mrs. Bland was waiting for him on the porch.

She embraced him, and the sudden violent unfamiliar contact sent such a shock through him that he felt but forgot the deep game he was playing. She, however, in her agitation did not notice his shuddering.

"Duane, you love me?" she whispered.

"Yes—yes" he burst out, eager to get it over, and even as he spoke he caught the pale gleam of Jennie's face through the window.

He felt a shame—he was glad she could not see. Did she remember that she had promised not to misunderstand any action of his? What did she think of him, seeing him out there in the dark with this bold woman in his arms?

Somewhat that dim sight of Jennie's pale face, the big dark eyes, thrilled him, inspired him to his hard task of the present.

"Listen dear," he said to the woman, and he meant his words for the girl. "I'm going to take you away from this outlaw den if I have to kill Bland, Alloway, Knatch—anybody who stands in my path. You were dragged here. You are good—I know it. There's happiness for you somewhere—a home among good people who will care for you. Just wait till—"

His voice trailed off and faded from excess of emotion. Kate Bland closed her eyes and leaned her head on his breast.

Duane felt her heart beat against his, and convulsive sobs like a keen blow. If she loved him so much! But memory—understanding of her character hardened him again, and he gave her such consolation as was due her sex, and no more.

"It's Bland!" whispered the woman, grasping Duane with shaking hands. "You must run! No, he'd see you. That'd be worse. It's Bland. I know his horse's tread."

"But you said he wouldn't mind my calling here," protested Duane. "Knatch's with me. I'll be all right."

"Maybe so," she replied, with visible effort at self-control. Manifestly she had a great fear of Bland. "If I could only think!"

Then she dragged Duane to the door, and pushed him in.

"Knatch, come out with me, Duane, you stay with the girl. I'll tell Bland you're in love with her. Jen, if you give us away I'll wring your neck!"

The swift action and fierce whisper told Duane that Mrs. Bland was herself again. Duane stepped close to Jennie, who stood near the window.

Neither spoke, but her hands were outstretched to meet his own. They were small, trembling hands, cold as ice. He held them closely trying to convey what he felt—that he would protect her. She leaned against him and they looked out of the window.

The approaching outlaws, halted a red or so from the porch. Then Mrs. Bland uttered an exclamation, undoubtedly meant to express surprise, and hurried out to meet them.

She greeted her husband warmly and gave welcome to the other man. Duane could not see well enough in the shadow to recognize Bland's companion, but he believed it was Alloway.

"Dog-tired we are and starved," said Bland heavily. "Who's here with you?"

"That's Knatch on the porch, Duane" other man just to rid myself of the last one.

"My dead men don't sit on my chest at night. That's the gun-fighter's trouble. He's crazy. He has to kill a new man—he's driven to it to forget the last one."

"But I'm no gun-fighter," protested Duane. "Circumstances made me—"

"No doubt," interrupted Bland with a laugh. "Circumstances made me a rustler. You don't know yourself. You're young; you've got a temper; your father was one of the most dangerous men Texas ever had. I don't see any other career for you. Instead of going it alone—a lone wolf, as the Texans say—why not make friends with other outlaws? You'll live a while longer."

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

"Four Circulation"

So many people come to see me, telling me about other things, that they have poor circulation. The reason for this condition is, their feet are more or less numb, with "creeping" sensations, tingling and, almost invariably cold, or uncomfortably cool; these symptoms, they ascribe to "poor circulation."

True, it feels like just that; feels as if the blood could not get through the tissues fast enough, and was trying to force its way—which isn't the case at all these tiny blood-vessels may be as open as they ever were, with the pulse rate and arterial pressure normal. The coldness, tingling and numbness, however, will bring the "poor circulation" opinion every time, when the patient tells me about his failing legs, or arms below the elbows.

It's a mere proposition every time. When the brain and spinal cord become very dry, tired, fatigued, weary from long over-taxing, the twigs of nerves farthest from the centers will manifest their exhaustion by lack of health function. To prescribe a heart tonic for such a condition, when it only needs rest, would be stupid.

The general tonic may be useful, and, particularly, the nerve tonic, which, however, is only supplemental to the first requirement—rest for the brain and cord.

If those leg-symptoms are accompanied by high blood-pressure, it is extremely necessary that the patient consult his physician at once—and it isn't "poor circulation" even in this emergency; it's still a nerve-proposition that causes the feeling, though the circulation be running riot. Is a raging fire a "poor fire?"

THE MAN AND THE JOB

J. C. Penney, the nationally known chain store operator, who is developing a large acreage near Green Cove Springs, Clay county, Florida, is not only a business success but an expert in picking out men. He recently appointed H. R. Linsen, assistant agricultural agent in Duval county, as professor of poultry in the Penney-Gwin Institute of Applied Agriculture at Penny Farms in Clay county. Mr. Penney never employs men who drink liquor or smoke cigarettes. He says the cigarette habit may not be a serious evil, but it is expensive and a time-waster. A man cannot accomplish all he should do in a day when he pines every few minutes to light up, puff and knock off ashes, repeating this regularly.

MANAGER NEWMAN EXPLAINS INTEREST ON PAVING LIENS

(By A. C. Newman, City Manager of Winter Haven.)

The following statement is made to answer certain questions arising in the minds of citizens as to the interest rates on paving liens. These questions have been raised by some of our citizens who have received a copy of a resolution passed by the City of Lakeland lowering the interest rate from 8 to 6 per cent. A copy of the resolution follows:

"Whereas, paving assessments levied by the City of Lakeland under the laws of Florida, Chapter 5298 passed in 1925, and similar provisions of the Charter, bear interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, and

Whereas, bonds issued thereon bear interest at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent, and

Whereas, the said act does not contemplate the making of a profit thereon by the City.

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the City Commission of the City of Lakeland, Fla., that the City assumes 2 per cent of the principal assessments each year and the Tax Collector is authorized to collect on this basis.

Passed this 21st day of March, 1928."

In explanation of the difference in rate of interest charged on paving liens by the City of Winter Haven and the rate charged the City on outstanding bonds, the difference being 2 per cent, the City Commission is only following out the dictate of the law which specifies that 8 per cent shall be charged. This difference will operate to relieve of their last installment all those who pay their installments on time. The following table shows how this system of collecting operates:

Assuming a principle of $1,000.	Installment	Principle	Int. 8 Per.	Int. 6 Per.
1.	$100	$900	$72	$54
2.	100	800	64	48
3.	100	700	56	42
4.	100	600	48	36
5.	100	500	40	30
6.	100	400	32	24
7.	100	300	24	18
8.	100	200	16	12
9.	100	100	8	6
10.	100	0	0	0

Total	Total Paid	Paid to Bond Holders	Liens	Prin.	Int. 6 Per.	Diff.
$1,000	$1,000	$1,000	$1,000	$1,000	$0	$0
172	100	54	154	154	18	18
361	100	48	148	148	16	16
155	100	42	142	142	14	14
148	100	36	136	136	12	12
140	100	30	130	130	10	10
132	100	24	124	124	8	8
124	100	18	118	118	6	6
116	100	12	112	112	4	4
108	100	6	106	106	2	2

The difference between the totals paid by the liens to the city and the total paid by the city to the bond holders in this case is $110, just $4.00 more than enough to pay off the tenth installment. A rebate to the citizens who pay promptly on the due dates will be allowed, computed as above described. However, in the cases where citizens are taking advantage of the refunding bond issues, and are only paying the interest, the city will not give the rebate, because there is a cost connected with the refunding bond issues that must be borne by the ones who receive the benefits therefrom. This is only fair and just. The average citizen can readily see the city is not taking advantage of him but that on the other hand is doing him a favor by securing funds at a fair interest rate, thus enabling him to carry on until financial matters are in better adjustment. A good many citizens might find it difficult to finance their paving activities were it not for the city's help in these refunding bond issues and such citizens can readily appreciate and are thankful for this help. All funds received for paying liens are deposited in the Improvement Fund, separate and apart from the general fund, and can only be used for paying off bonds. If the city is forced to take over properties where paving liens are delinquent, such properties will be sold for the damages against them. The 2 per cent difference cannot possibly make up for delinquent payments. Each individual property must bear the expense of all liens and taxes against it. The city is not operating for profit but on the other hand to operate for less than cost is folly and would only add to the general tax burden at a later date.

Hints for the Home

When planning the table decoration for Thanksgiving do not forget that fall fruits and vegetables are as decorative as flowers for the centerpiece—and far more expressive symbols of Harvest Time.

One of the most beautiful Thanksgiving tables I have ever seen had for its centerpiece a large flat bowl of amber glass holding a small pumpkin, a purple egg plant, an ear of corn, a tiny winter squash and apples, plums, oranges, purple and wine-red grapes. Tall cones of amber glass filled with small fruits and grapes were placed at either side of the large bowl. Amber-globes and ivory-bodied china in a colorful pattern were used for service.

Altho the table was planned for a sophisticated New York home it seems to me it bears a special message for all who live far from good florist shops.

Luscious Pumpkin Pie
This time use prepared cake flour to make your pie crust and condensed milk where your pumpkin recipe calls for milk—and you will have a richer, creamier filling and a flakier crust than usual for this piece de resistance of your Thanksgiving meal.

A New Salad
Chop 12 stuffed olives and 1 cup celery. Heat 1 cup water and 1 cup tomato soup to boiling; add 1 tsp. vinegar, salt and paprika to taste. Dissolve in this 1 package lemon-flavored gelatin. When cool and slightly thick, stir in celery mixture and pour in molds to harden. Very good with "turkey and trimmings."

Mends Broken China
A splendid cement for broken china may be made by mixing plaster of Paris with white of egg until it is creamy. Apply as you would any prepared cement.

The Outgoing and Incoming Presidents

Calvin Coolidge is to give up the reins of office to Herbert Hoover, who it is believed will closely adhere to the policies formulated by his predecessor. Both men are more given to action than to words, and have marked business and executive ability. Calvin Coolidge has been nominated for many offices, never suffering a defeat, but Herbert Hoover has not engaged in politics before. The many important offices he has heretofore held have been appointive offices.

Hobbies and Habits of Hoover and Coolidge Differ But Slightly

Our next President, Herbert Hoover, has always been known as a man of action. He devotes about sixteen hours a day to work, and never seems to get tired of it. One of his chief recreations is fishing, at which he is a great adept—another amusement is watching sports events, at which he is always seen with a bag of peanuts in his hand. Peanuts seem to form one of the chief items of his diet. He is tremendously fond of them.

Efficiency is his byword in every department of life—to save time he orders his clothing in large quantities. He purchases as many as half-a-dozen suits at one time in order to avoid frequent visits to the store.

Hoover is six feet tall, and very strong, but has a quiet reserve and is at times quite shy. Though he is very busy, he is one of the most approachable men in America.

Calvin Coolidge, who is completing his term as President, is also an ardent fisherman—an expert, in fact, whose exploits in this line have attracted much attention. He is an able marksman, too, having attended persons with his ability at shooting at clay pigeons and other targets. He is fond of wearing cowboy clothes and "ten gallon hats" on occasion.

Coolidge believes in economy. In his private life as well as throughout his Administration, he maintains no extravagance. When his term is up, he is returning to a small home where his rent is $22.50 per month.

No success makes him depart from his simple tastes.

Coolidge is a splendid talker, but never speaks when there is nothing to be said. He is always sparing of words.

He has at the same time a great sense of humor. One of the stories told of him is that a lady next to him at a dinner once turned toward him and said:

"I bet someone that I could make you say three words."

"You have," answered the President, solemnly.

MRS. CAROLINE LENOX

Caroline Betts was born in Hardin, Ohio, in 1846. Here she grew to young womanhood, and on March 13, 1869, was united in marriage to Virgil Cowan Lenox, also of Hardin. They resided on a farm near Sidney, O., until early in 1868, when they joined the pioneer movement toward the plains of Illinois, settling in Champaign county. After some years spent in farm life there, they moved to Rantoul, Ill., where Mr. Lenox engaged in the grocery business for many years. In 1892 the family moved to Harvey, Ill., where they resided until 1910, when Mr. and Mrs. Lenox came to Florida, settling in St. Cloud, where the remaining years of their lives were spent. Mr. Lenox preceded in death in February 1927.

The following children survive: Mrs. Jessie L. Jenness, Chicago; Mrs. Eva L. Trinkle, St. Cloud; Mrs. F. H. Cross, Chicago, Calif.; Earl E. Lenox, Harvey, Ill.; Leone Lenox, St. Cloud; Mrs. C. E. Carlson, St. Cloud.

One son, Charles, having preceded the late death in 1908. In addition to the above named children, eleven grand-children and five great-grand-children are left to mourn her passing.

The remains were taken to Rantoul, Ill., for burial in the family lot in the cemetery there, preceded by a short funeral service attended by the family and many old friends residing in that community.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Caroline B. Lenox desire to express their sincere appreciation to neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness shown during her sickness and death; to those who sent beautiful floral tributes; and especially to Mrs. J. K. Conn, Mrs. Grace Liggitt, Rev. Andrews and Elected Brothers, for their kind services rendered.

THRIFT STORES ADDED TO MERCHANTS LIST

Through an oversight last week the name of the Thrift Store, on Tenth st., near Florida Avenue, was omitted from the names on the merchants' special advertisement. The committee advised the Tribune to add that concern this week and make this explanation, as they joined the co-operative advertising movement last week.
